

Max and Molly share their trail tales at Lynn Canyon Park

North Shore News

JULY 3, 2016 01:00 AM

Theatre students Kelsey Ranshaw and Julien Galipeau play Molly and Max at Lynn Canyon Park this summer, as well as Sal and Sam at the North Vancouver Shipyards. photo Mike Wakefield, North Shore News

This summer, the North Vancouver Museum and Archives invites people to take a walk into the past.

Mountaineers Max and Molly, portrayed by theatre students Julien Galipeau and Kelsey Ranshaw, will lead visitors through Lynn Canyon Park, entertaining them with historical tales of adventure and rescue.

The free drop-in tours are offered Wednesdays and Thursdays, July 7 to Aug. 25, at 1:30 and 3 p.m.

On Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays, July 8 to Aug. 28, at 1:30 and 3 p.m., Galipeau and Ranshaw will swap their hiking gear for coveralls and play Sal and Sam, who will regale visitors with the story of North Vancouver's Burrard Dry Dock.