Job Posting:

Archives and Community Engagement Intern
1 Temporary Full-time position (6 months)
North Vancouver Museum & Archives Commission

The North Vancouver Museum and Archives is seeking an energetic, conscientious individual to provide assistance to the Archivist for a period of six months.

The North Vancouver Archives is celebrating the 100th anniversary of its heritage building in Lynn Valley. In October 2020, the NVMA is launching the online exhibit “A Landmark Transformed: 100 Years of Serving the Community” along with related special events and public programming.

The position: The Archives and Community Engagement Intern will assist with a variety of archives management activities, including core functions (appraisal, arrangement and description, preservation and access); and outreach activities, including digitization, exhibits, and oral histories.

Qualifications: The successful applicant must have completed one year of university or college program related to archives management, and have at least one year of related experience working in an archives or cultural heritage institution. Knowledge of archival principles and practices, including care and handling of archival materials in all formats is required. Experience working with archival management software and digitization software is an asset. Other qualifications include an interest in museum and cultural heritage work, a high degree of computer literacy, ability to maintain accuracy under pressure and deadlines, ability to lift 20lbs and walk up and down stairs, effective interpersonal and organizational skills, and excellent written and spoken English language skills.

Work Site: Archives of North Vancouver, Lynn Valley, North Vancouver

*Due to Covid-19 protocols, a balance of working on-site and at-home will be expected.

Wage: $20.89/hr plus 4% vacation pay

Work week: 30 hrs/week, 9:00-5:00, Monday to Friday

Applications will be accepted until 12:00 p.m. PDT on Tuesday, September 8, 2020.

This position is funded, in part, via the Young Canada Works at Building Careers in Heritage Internship program of the Department of Canadian Heritage, administered by the Canadian Council of Archives. Candidates must be registered on the Young Canada Works website and meet all eligibility criteria to be considered for this position.
